ITALOFOBIA: L'ESODO DAL QUEBEC

Directed by award-winning Montreal native Anthony Sarracco, it sheds light on the history of the Italian Canadian immigrant experience in Québec and explores the key themes of sovereignty and assimilation that led to a mass exodus from the province. It also goes beyond the headlines with a critical analysis of the sociological correlation between new immigrants and the stigma associated with them, juxtaposing the fears other cultures may have about the community.

GUIDO NINCHERI: IL MICHELANGELO CANADESE

Often referred to as Canada's Michelangelo, this TLN original documentary, produced in collaboration with award-winning Canadian-Colombian director Jaime Escallon-Buraglia, provides an up-close and personal examination of Guido Nincheri and his paintings, sculptures, and stained-glass creations. These artworks can be found in over 200 churches across North America. Nincheri's studio and collection of works were left to his grandson, Roger, who retired in 2007 and was tasked with taking stock of his grandfather's works.
